

STERLING NEGROES' CAR WRECKED WEST OF DIXON LAST EVE

Ran Into Dixon Ford and Then Turned Over in Ditch.

A Lozier touring car owned and driven by Jesse Simons of Sterling, colored, of which several colored people were occupants, was almost completely wrecked west of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway last night about 10 o'clock and all of the passengers were badly shaken up. The accident took place near the Beede farm, the Lozier car striking a Ford touring car owned and driven by Charles Dinger of this city.

Simons was bruised and cut and his wife was said to be confined to her home in Sterling today suffering from internal injuries, the extent of which is not known. The other colored occupants of the car sustained minor injuries and all were taken to Sterling in a truck which was following close behind them.

Mr. Dinger stated this morning that he was returning home and saw the Lozier car coming toward him, driving in the center of the road. The Dixon man said that he turned almost off the paving to allow the west bound car to pass, but that the Lozier car struck him, taking both left wheels and fender from the Ford, which was turned completely around. The Lozier car was turned around by the force of the impact and came to rest at the side of the road. Mr. Dinger told the police this morning that he and others in his car assisted in placing the Sterling parties in a truck which took them to Sterling and that he found a bottle which contained some alcohol in the Lozier car.

Chief of Police Hagecock of Sterling came to Dixon this morning to investigate the case and went before Justice J. C. Conner, where action was started to hold the Dixon man liable for damages in the accident.

ELGIN LOOKING FOR HARD GAME HERE ON SUNDAY

Many Fans Plan to Accompany Watchmakers to Dixon.

The Elgin Legion football team is making ready for one of the hardest battles of the season when they come to Dixon Sunday to meet the local Legion in the first game they have played on Dixon ground. The Elgin Daily News of Wednesday has the following to say of the plans for Sunday's contest.

Elgin Legion football players will don their "work clothes" and report at the National street field at 7:30 o'clock this evening for practice according to the announcement of Manager W. H. Ackemann. The team will report for their invasion at Dixon, Ill., next Sunday to play the Dixon Legion team in a return game.

The Elgin-Dixon struggle will be a tough one for the locals. The downstate team want revenge for their 10 to 0 licking that they received here earlier in the season. The Elgin players and fans plan to make the trip to Dixon next Sunday in autos.

James Midland, who has been in the county jail for failure to secure bonds in the sum of $1,000, was fined $200 and costs this morning and was paroled.

This leaves but one liquor case on the county court docket, that being the injunction action started against Frank Catalina, which has been set for the December term.

Hog Cholera More Prevalent Than at Any Time in 9 Years

By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, Nov. 15.—Hog cholera is becoming more prevalent this fall than in any year since the decline of the last intensive outbreak, which reached its height in 1914, the department of Agriculture announced today. Reports show the disease has appeared in communities which have been free from it for 25 years. In many localities it gained considerable headway before hog raisers realized the trouble.

Unless hog owners and veterinarians act promptly, the department declares, losses will be unusually heavy. Most of the losses they say, have been due to the neglect of farmers to call their veterinarians in time.

There is a large proportion of susceptible animals in the country this year because the comparative freedom of most states from cholera, the expense of producing serum, and the expense of high price of corn and the seeming low price of hogs caused many farmers to fail to have their herds immunized last spring.

Thinks Bonus Can Be Paid and Taxes Can Be Sliced Too

By Associated Press Leased Wire New York, Nov. 15.—W. G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, is convinced that the federal government can both reduce the tax burden and provide soldiers' compensation equivalent to a bonus, he declared in a statement made public today.

The statement, made at the request of the Literary Digest, in which it will be published, added that the bonus question "should long ago have been taken out of politics."

"We can have tax reduction and do justice to the American soldier as well," he says, "by treating adjusted compensation as a part of the war costs and funding it through an issue of fifty year bonds. The interest and sinking fund charge should not exceed eight to ninety million dollars per annum. This would not prevent a reduction in taxes."

The statement was in answer to a request for Mr. McAdoo's opinion of Secretary Mellon's statement on the bonus.

CLAIM TO HAVE PROOF WALTON JOINED K. K. K.

Health Commissioner Says He Saw Governor Initiated.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Prosecution of the impeachment trial of Governor J. C. Walton today turned to the alleged abuse of pardon and parole authority.

The prosecution declared there would be no proof that the Governor had received bribes, but that they would show he exceeded the legal bounds of his authority in that he granted pardons and paroles before conviction, awarded clemency in the face of protests and that his actions were designed to permit his friends to obtain large attorney's fees.

Testimony intended to show that Governor Walton was a member of the Ku Klux Klan when he waged his fight against the organization because of its alleged mob activities in Oklahoma, is in the hands of a legislative committee.

The evidence made public in the form of testimony given by Dr. A. E. Davenport, state health commissioner and a member of the Klan.

He was quoted as having said he arranged the meeting with the Klan for the ceremony, was present, and a Klan official administered the oath to the executive and collected the initiation fee from him, and filled out the membership card for the Governor at his direction. He testified in support of Dr. W. T. Tully who said he swore the Governor in and was paid the initiation fee.

Governor Walton repeatedly has denied he ever was obliged to the Klan.

MUSIC WILL HAVE IMPORTANT PLACE IN CHURCH JUBILEE

Special Numbers to Be Profuse in St. Paul's Celebration.

Music will have a large part in the Diamond Jubilee Services of St. Paul's Lutheran church the coming Sunday to Wednesday. There will be special numbers at every service, under the leadership of Mrs. E. M. Goodsell, chorister, and Mrs. Dwight Chapman, organist.

The Young People's choir will sing Sunday and Monday evenings, and the orchestra, led by Earl Senneff, will give special numbers at the Monday night service.

The crowning musical event of the services will be the sacred cantata on Wednesday evening. It has special parts for solo, chorus and organ. Its words are chiefly Biblical, its music is very beautiful and inspiring. It opens with an invitation to God's house, then tells the necessary preparation for those coming to that sacred place. Love is the requirement of entrance into the kingdom. The Good Shepherd, Jesus, is next exalted, and the pathway of life explained in the words of the Twenty-third Psalm. There is a prayer for light, when earthly scenes pass away, in Thee to find the open gate to deathless home and endless day," then the cantata tells of Christ, the Heavenly Light.

The subject of the cantata, "The Crown of Life," is then introduced more definitely, in the thought that enduring temptation is the condition of receiving the crown of life, in "Father's House on High." There is a plea for the true Christian life of "living sacrifice." The cantata closes in a final chorus of praise to God, eternal praise, and then as now, Lord is the refuge and strength of His people.

Each part of the cantata has one or more special parts besides the chorus numbers. The choir will sing the work on the jubilee music for some time, and a treat is ready for each service.

Stories of Long Ago

In the timber southeast of the court house, a clearing was made in the scrub oak and underbrush in the "First Church" of St. Paul's Lutheran congregation was built on the west side of what is now Crawford Avenue, north of Fourth Street. People came there from the woods and prairies for miles around, and some used to be brought to the posts supporting the long hinged of wooden steps which led to the main entrance.

The building was begun in 1854, and two other churches, Methodist and Roman Catholic, were under construction the same year. It was dedicated in September 1855. One hundred and fifty buildings were erected in Dixon during 1855, and that fall the population was 1,064.

The prime mover in the erection of the First Church by the Lutherans, was Rev. Wm. Uhl, an interesting character in the secular history as well as in connection with church life. He was born in Maryland in 1819, graduated from Gettysburg College, Pa., about 1845, entered the ministry and six years later became a missionary pastor at Peru, Ill. He came to the Dixon charge in 1852, and that year was one of eight "exploring missionaries" sent to the west by the American Board of Christian Missions.

Mr. Uhl had frequent periods of ill health, which forced him to leave his missionary work, and it was one of these which brought him to Dixon. He settled on a farm near the city, and in 1856 he became the Lutheran pastor. In 1859 he purchased the "Farmers' Mill" built two years before, which became known as the Uhl Mill. He was closely connected with church life in this vicinity for forty years, and is mentioned in the early records of many churches in this part of Illinois.

Rev. Uhl lived in the house just across the street from the church, and his daughter, Mrs. Bennett, next west in the house now known as the Rosbrook home. Mr. Bennett was frequently associated with Mr. Uhl in his work.

The basement of the old First Church was on the ground level, reached by one or two steps from its entrance under the high porch, and leading to the main floor above. It had three rooms. One was used for coal, after the railroad came through and it became cheaper. Before that, wood was burned in the two stoves, each half way down the side of the room above.

Dr. Everett's Exhibit

Another room had an exhibit of stuffed birds, minerals and other specimens belonging to Dr. Oliver Everett, the earliest physician in Dixon. He came in 1855, and is said to have been a naturalist, a pioneer, and a general Dixon Public Hospital and physician covered hundred of miles of thinly settled territory, over which his saddle bags carried nourishing food as well as medicine. The exhibit was on display at the exhibit before and after Sunday school. It remained there until the room was needed for public school purposes. At least part of the exhibit was taken to the Dixon Public Library.

Various organizations met in the basement of the old church in those days when public buildings were more rare than now. One of the most noted was the Dixon Collegiate Institute, which was organized in 1855, and commenced its first term May 7 under the care of Rev. Wm. Harsha, the first Presbyterian pastor here. Besides Rev. Harsha, Prof. E. C. Smith, Mrs. E. A. Smith, Mrs. C. L. Harsha and Miss Jenny L. Backus are mentioned among its early teachers. The next year the Lutheran church trustees were authorized to rent the basement of the church to the Presbyterians for school purposes.

Just how long the Institute met in the basement is not known.

COOLIDGE FIRM IN JUDGMENT OF FARMERS OF U. S.

Believes They Think in Safe and Sound Economic Terms.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Louisville, Ky., Nov. 15.—President Coolidge's new program is being cheered signs of the times in connection with the administration's efforts to deal with the agriculture situation and to place the country's farming establishment on a potential secure basis, the fact that farmers may be relied on to use sound judgment in consideration of questions which affect agriculture.

"It seems to me to be popular in some quarters to assume that the farmers would not think in terms of safe and sound economics," he said in a letter to R. W. Bingham, chairman of the executive committee of the National Council of Co-operative Marketing associations, made public here.

"To the contrary," the letter continued, "my experience has been that the farmers could be relied on to employ particularly good sense and sound judgment in their consideration of these questions."

The President's letter was in reply to a telegram sent to the White House by Mr. Bingham, publisher of the Louisville Courier Journal and the Louisville Times.

"I am sure it is not necessary to say to you that the use of administration in mind the idea of accomplishing as much as possible for the early relief of a difficult present situation," the President replied, "while at the same time avoiding any missteps, and so far as possible, building up a permanent agricultural prosperity."

"A telegram from former Governor Lowden, a day or two ago, indicated his agreement with your general attitude in the matter. I cannot but feel substance to the progress is being achieved in the direction of consolidating public opinion in favor of a sound and permanent plan of co-operative marketing."

MORAL TURPITUDE ALLEGED BY GOVT. COUNSEL AT TRIAL

Asked About Divorce Action and Party with Actresses.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, Nov. 15.—Stirred by charges that Colonel Forbes was one of the gang of conspirators who were tied together cheek and jaw to defraud the government.

"I expect further to show," O'Ryan said, "that there was criminal conduct in consonance with his previous life record."

The statement of General O'Ryan, committee counsel, was made before the cross-examination of the former director of the Veterans Bureau was resumed.

"Yesterday in the cross examination of Colonel Forbes," O'Ryan said, "I made charges that the testimony thus far introduced which impeaches his character is not only false, but it is the result of subordination of perjury and the consequent session. She also charged that documents and papers which would have indicated the innocence of Colonel Forbes were withheld by counsel for the committee."

"When asked for proof of these charges the witness said that his counsel was in possession of the proof and thereupon his counsel said he was present to offer the proof to the committee."

Held as "irresponsible"

"Colonel Forbes I regard as irresponsible. I expect, however, to prove much more serious irresponsibility in his conduct of office and in his lack of care of the disabled."

Mrs. Esby-Smith, counsel for Forbes, said she would submit a list of witnesses and documents which Forbes claims were withheld.

It developed that Mrs. E. H. Mortimer had been examined by the committee in the past. She accompanied her husband and Forbes and his official party on the Pacific coast trip in 1922 and it was understood she was questioned as to incidents on the trip.

"I am a naturalized citizen," Forbes said. "I know if he had had an altercation with Mortimer in 1922."

"I had some words with him," "Was it about Mrs. Mortimer?" "It might have been partially about her."

Forbes conceded Mortimer had found him and Mrs. Mortimer in a hotel apartment here, but declared the door was wide open.

General O'Ryan's cross examination was sharp and at times he declined to permit Forbes to supplement his direct testimony.

He was being cross questioned about the employment of Mathew O'Brien, a San Francisco architect, who prepared the unexecuted plans of the "Livermore" residence. Forbes said that President Harding had told him to get a competent architect suitable to the California congressional delegation.

Forbes said there had been some report about alleged incompetency of O'Brien as an architect for hospitals, but added his plans had been approved by the Federal Board of Health, charged with such responsibility.

The witness said he never was strong for the appointment of an architect for Livermore.

For Frank T. Hines of the Bureau, that when he came into office the work was in confusion because of the use of "pink slips" by the "Livermore" architect, Forbes said that "pink slips" were used.

"On October 6 last was an action brought against you in Seattle, Washington," asked O'Ryan.

"What kind of an action?" Forbes inquired.

"A divorce action?"

"I think that is utterly immaterial," objected Forbes' counsel.

"I'll make it material," said O'Ryan.

Question Permitted

A conference followed and the committee permitted the question O'Ryan wanted to know of Forbes in verifying his answer to the bill of complaint had not written "Charles R. Forbes," then scratched out the "and" and written above it "T."

"I don't recall," said Forbes.

"Wasn't it to avoid publicity?"

"Every man wants to avoid publicity in such matters."

The chairman Reed announced in connection with the divorce questions he had been decided the committee would hear evidence involving moral turpitude from the time of Forbes' appointment as director down to the present.

"On the visits to the Mortimer apartment and on the automobile ride, Mrs. Mortimer always was with you, was she not?"

"With us," said Forbes with emphasis.

He then asked about the Atlantic City trip to which Mortimer had testified.

"Two actresses from New York joined you there?" asked O'Ryan.

"Yes, they left the morning after their arrival."

"Mrs. Forbes was not a member of that party?"

"She was not."

"Who paid the expenses of the party?"

"I know I paid my own," said Forbes.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Spreading operations between Winnipeg and Chicago simultaneous selling in Chicago and buying in Winnipeg, led to a sharp setback today in wheat prices here. The break took place in the last half of the Board of Trade session. Prices closed unsettled 1/2 to 1/4 net decline, Dec. 1.02 1/2 to 1.03 and May 1.03 1/4.

Subsequently, bears had the advantage and in connection with selling here on the part of speculators it was asserted that the present domestic visible supply of wheat was the largest ever known in time of peace.

Corn was weak, largely as a result of speculation that hog feeding was being conducted at a loss. After opening unchanged to 1/4 lower, Dec. 75 1/2 to 1/4, the market underwent a decided setback.

Oats, governed by wheat rather than corn, stood at a shade lower to 1/4 higher, May 44 1/2 to 1/4 and held near the initial figures.

Provisions were easier.

For the most part traders took the view that readjustment between corn prices and the hog market would be for corn declining. Corn closed unsettled, 3/4 to 1/4 net lower, Dec. 74 1/2.

She called her husband's attention to it and they glided to a lower altitude, where they witnessed the buildings sway and crumble to ruins.

Springfield, Nov. 15.—The state department of Public Works and Buildings today opened bids for a deep well pump at the Dixon state hospital. The lowest bidder was Walsh & Metzger of Chicago with a bid of $9,614.

The above improvement is one that has been needed badly at the Dixon institution for some time. Under the present arrangement when the pumping system is to be closed for repairs, it is necessary to fill the storage tank from which the supply is drawn, and until the necessary repairs are made, with the installation of another deep well pump, the institution will be equipped with a duplicate pumping system.

GERMANY DENIES REPUDIATION PACT IN ITS ENTIRETY

Says Reparations Will Be Resumed as Soon as France Obeyes.

BULLETIN.

Paris, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press).—Reports from Berlin that the government is considering the advisability of abandoning the Ruhr and the Rhineland to their own devices are received with skepticism in French official circles. It is pointed out that Berlin, while it would be glad if it could shift the burden of financing and provisioning those territories to the allies, cannot be unaware of the disastrous impression the abandonment would make upon the population.

Reparation of the reparations in the present situation does not signify official disavowal of the treaty, it was added, but is the result of France's violation of the treaty.

Opponents of the Stresemann ministry are making political capital of a reported change of the government's policy toward the Ruhr and Rhineland.

The government's decision to let these territories shift for themselves, as it were, while occupied, was made known in official quarters last night, when it was announced that after November 25 the Reich would no longer meet unemployment bills in the Ruhr and Rhineland.

In the event that political pressure does force a change in the policy, it is believed, the local authorities in the occupied regions will be empowered to deal with the French and Belgian regime.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press).—Premier Baldwin, in answer to the labor motion of censure in the House of Commons today, said, with reference to the Ruhr and reparations situation, that he had spared no pains to let it be known to Great Britain's allies that the British people could not continue indefinitely to maintain the spirit necessary for cooperation if the present situation were allowed to remain.

Mr. Baldwin declared it might be difficult to maintain indefinitely efforts to work together with allies who made it so difficult.

"I had high hopes," he said, "that when the communications with America began they might really be productive of solid progress, but here again, as so often before, we found all our efforts to naught, not by our own action nor by the action of America, but the action of two of our allies."

With regard to his tariff protection program the premier said he did not propose to put a tax on wheat, flour, cheese, butter, eggs or meat. He reserved a perfectly free hand on everything else.

Fishway in Dam at fi Dixon is Inspected; Repairs Are Ordered

State Fish and Game Warden Chas. E. Myers of Oregon was in Dixon yesterday and with deputies of this city and Sterling conducted an inspection of the fishway in the dam here. Following the inspection, orders were issued to require extensive repairs of the fishway by the Illinois Northern Utilities company. Deputy Frank A. Schoenholz of this city was instructed to see that the necessary repairs were made at the earliest possible date.

The warden is said to have made the statement that the fishway in its present condition was useless and served more as a fish trap than a means of permitting the fish to pass upstream. He found the way in a bad condition of repair and almost impracticable for the purpose for which it was intended.

Mid-west Farmer in Deplorable Condition

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press).—A hearing on a petition by mid-western interests for lower freight rates on grain, grain products and hay, began yesterday before representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission by testimony of complainants, was resumed today.

J. F. Conne, Des Moines, Iowa, assistant secretary of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, who asserted yesterday that the condition of the Iowa corn farmer was unusually favorable this year, was expected to continue his testimony today.

He presented figures purporting to show that although the corn yield is smaller this year, than last, at the current price, it would sell for approximately $1,000,000 more. This testimony was the only bright spot in a picture that represented the farmer of the mid-west to be in a deplorable condition.

Oregon Man Given Earned Promotion

Oregon, Nov. 15.—Edgar Bickelbach, who for the past several years has held a responsible position at the local Carnation Milk Co. plant, has been notified within the past few days of his appointment as superintendent of the new plant at Mayville, New York.

Mr. Bickelbach has proven a valuable employee of the company and this promotion is well merited. The Mayville plant is one which the company recently absorbed in taking over the "Mohawk" factories.

It is present milk supply is to be slightly in excess of the Oregon plant. The fact that Mr. Bickelbach is given a plant of such a large capacity is evidence in itself of the high esteem in which his ability is held by the company officials.

His many friends in Oregon, while regretting to see him leave, are rejoicing over his promotion and wish him lots of luck in his new field of work.

NIGHT TIME AND DAY?

By Charles Hanson Towne.
There is no beauty like the beauty of night.
When the stars hang within that sea of blue.
Miraculously lovely, God looks through.
His eye the moon forever silver bright.
Watching the earth bathed in cascades of light.
How shall I name the ecstasy I knew
On certain summer evenings when I flow
Somewhere to regions far and infinite?
Up one great starry path I seemed to go,
Divinely drunk with joy; and on and on
I passed beyond the glory of earth's white
Reflection of the heavenly portico.
There is no beauty like the beauty of night.
Save when the heart looks up—and sees the dawn!
—From the Designer Magazine for December.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—

Inside and Out.
If you want your roast chicken to be moist and tender put butter in side as well as outside, and do not put flour on the outside, as this makes the skin leathery and thick.

Cream Soups Good.

Cream soups are too heavy to serve with a heavy dinner, but they are most welcome for a meal that is composed largely of vegetables or a fish that is not oily.

Left-Over Slices.

Toast left-over slices of bread and cover with a white sauce to which grated cheese has been added. This makes a most nutritious luncheon dish.

Keep On Ice.

Raw fish should always be kept on ice.

ice in an uncovered dish and washed with vinegar and water before cooking.

W. M. S. of Grace Evangelical Church

The W. M. S. of Grace Evangelical church held its annual thanksgiving service in connection with the regular missionary meeting at the home of Mrs. Isaac Graybill, 420 E. McKenney street, on Tuesday afternoon. In spite of the rainy weather a large number were present and enjoyed the program. Mrs. Graybill had charge of the program and opened the meeting with announcing a song. Scripture lesson was read by the leader from John 13-15. Five of the women led in sentence prayers on behalf of Japan and our missionaries. After singing a few verses of "I Need Thee Every Hour," Mrs. A. W. Hartman presented the lesson which was very interesting. An instrumental duet was rendered by Mrs. W. W. White and Miss Audrey Graves. Mrs. Blanche Schrock read a leaflet entitled "The Measure of the Gift." Miss Meriam Smith gave two readings entitled, "Where Do You Live?" Mrs. Frost also gave a fine reading entitled "The Master's Touch." After more music Mrs. O. E. Strook took charge of the business part of the meeting. A Young Peoples' Missionary Circle is to be organized. Mrs. W. W. White was appointed the field secretary. Mrs. Graves and Mrs. Hartman were appointed as oratorical contest secretaries. Meeting closed with the doxology. There were forty-three members and friends present. Three hundred and fifty dollars. The thank-offering amounts to over fifty dollars. Delightful refreshments were served.

WERE GUESTS AT FULTON HOME—

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Westlund, of East Aurora, N. Y., en route by auto to Los Angeles, Cal., where they will reside, spent last night here with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulton. Mr. and Mrs. Westlund are University of Illinois friends of Cedric Fulton, and Mr. Westlund and Cedric Fulton are fraternity brothers.

Is a Meritorious Society of Church

One of the very helpful organizations in St. Paul's church is the Ladies' Aid Society. An account of the Diamond Jubilee Year would be incomplete without mention of them, for among the many birthday presents received by the church, theirs was probably the largest—the beautiful Embassy Wilton Velvet carpet which was placed in the newly decorated auditorium. Its soft, rich tones harmonize perfectly with the walls and other furnishings, and it adds a touch of completeness in a place where the wrong effect would have detracted from the atmosphere of worship which pervades the entire room.

The society now has fully seventy members. It has had an active history of perhaps sixty years in continuous service for the church. The exact date of its organization is not definitely known. One of its oldest living members, Mrs. Jonathan Rhodes, came to Dixon in 1865 and says it was started before that.

Mrs. Rhodes lives with her daughter, Mrs. Ed. Winders, 522 Brinton avenue. She is now eighty-two years old, active, and a joy to her many friends. She came here from Iowa, but was born in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Rhodes, then Miss Katie Walker, joined the Lutheran Aid Society in 1868. She left Dixon in 1870 and returned after twenty-nine years. Her stories of those four years are very interesting.

The planning, building and dedicating of the present church building was done during the years when Mrs. Rhodes was at work in that pioneer aid society. She and Miss Mary Fleck, a sister of Mrs. E. L. Kling, were "directors." She thinks Mrs. James Stewart was its first president. Mrs. Stewart was Fannie Burkett, a daughter of John Burkett, in whose barn the church was organized.

The aid society members were few in those early days, but it was a very active organization. They met each week in the homes of the members, some in town and some in the country. The dues were ten cents a month. If the hostess served refreshments of more than three articles of food, she was fined twenty-five cents. They had a Mite society which met in the evening of the same day as the regular weekly gathering, and this the men came and used the opportunity of a proffered offering plate. But these were not the only ways in which they gained money for their church work.

These industrious ladies took in sewing from all who wished to hire such work, and did it at their weekly meetings. They made clothing for men, women and children, did fancy work, and sewed upon fine linens. Their prices were moderate, and they always had plenty of patronage from the community.

Week of Opportunity for Illinois Women

As the third annual convention of the Illinois League of Women Voters draws near, interest increases in the personnel of guests and delegates, for with thoroughness characteristic of women who are working for 100 per cent intelligent citizenry, the choice of speakers has been settled upon.

Women now serving in legislative, executive and judicial capacities, who can tell how it is done. Among these are Dr. Ellen C. Potter, a member of Governor Pinchot's cabinet as secretary of welfare, Dr. Anna Garlin Spencer, the "grand old lady" of New York, Mrs. James Paige, member of the Minnesota legislature, Belle Sherwin, Efficiency in Government chairman for the National League of Women Voters, Cook County's newly elected Judge Mary Bartelme, and one of Illinois' women mayors, Mrs. Harriet F. Polk of Rochester.

Section No. 3 Ladies Aid Elect Officers

Section No. 3 of the M. E. Aid Society held a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the parsonage with Mrs. A. S. Moore and sewing was done for the holiday bazaar.

Officers for the Section were elected, with Mrs. Emerson Bennett retained as the president. Mrs. Thomas Clayton was elected vice president and Mrs. Oscar Cline was elected the secretary and treasurer.

The hostess served dainty refreshments and a pleasant social interval was enjoyed.

FULLNESS OF NEW FROCKS

The skirts of new dresses have a tendency to bunch the fullness in front or at the sides. The extra material usually is taken up in pleats, as in the frocks sketched. The side-pleated model has an interesting waistline treatment that gives the skirt front an almost apron-like effect. The sleeves are good looking—split to the elbow on the underarm.

The second model has a long tunic—longer even than the skirt—which parts in front to show the pleated panel there. This dress, too, has interesting sleeves and a new development of the round neckline. Both models are good for fall and winter.

The courtesy of several women's clubrooms in the city will be extended to the guests and delegates. The beginning of this perfect week for the women of Illinois will be signaled by an illuminating lecture Monday evening, Nov. 19th, at Orchestra Hall, by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, famous arctic explorer, patriot, humanitarian, conductor of successful relief expedition for war prisoners in Siberia, and prominent delegate to the League of Nations from Norway. This lecture is made possible by the co-operation of the Illinois League of Women Voters and the Sons of Norway.

Mrs. Miller, Organizer and Inspector, Was Guest of Honor

Chapter A. C. Illinois P. E. O., on Monday afternoon met at the home of Mrs. S. W. Lehman with Mrs. H. E. Laxer assistant hostess. Mrs. Jessie Miller of Decatur, organizer and inspector for Illinois, being guest of honor.

Mrs. W. H. Coppins, president of Chapter A. C., conducted the business meeting with every officer in her place. The new initiatory service was beautifully given by the officers. At the close of the business meeting Mrs. Charters of Ashton, gave two charming vocal solos with Miss Roe as accompanist, "The Star" by Rogers and "When Song Is Lost" by San Sarril.

Mrs. Coppins then asked Mrs. Miller to speak to the chapter which she did in a very gracious and pleasing manner, complimenting the officers on the work given and said she could report them as doing splendid work. She made many helpful suggestions and all felt it was a pleasure to hear her and to become better acquainted with her. Mrs. Miller left immediately after the meeting for Sterling where in the evening she inspected Chapter B. H.

Tempting refreshments were served by the hostesses and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

Roast Turkey.
The centerpiece could well be made of fruit and nuts. A pumpkin bowl with bitter-sweet spilling over the edges and trailing a bit on the table is attractive and colorful. The red and yellow checked apples, white and Tokay grapes and dull tones of nuts in the brilliant pumpkin yellow make as artistic a decoration as heart could wish.

Your butcher should dress the turkey. The giblets are usually put loosely back inside. Remove these and let stand in cold salt water to cover while washing the bird itself.

To wash the turkey rub the inside thoroughly with salt. Then let cold water thoroughly wash and rinse out every trace of the salt. Scrape the outside with the dull edge of a can, keeping the turkey under water and taking care not to break the skin. Scrub well with the palm of the hand and wash through many waters. Rinse the giblets under running water. Truss and stuff.

To truss a turkey, draw the thighs close to the body and tie with a stout wrapping cord. Draw wings close to the body and use a large trussing needle to sew through the body. Make a half-inch stitch in one wing and sew back through the body and tie too dry by long roasting. When the turkey is ready to be served cut the knot and pull cord out by the stitch. The skin should be sewed together over the stuffing. Do not stuff the turkey too full, for the stuffing soaks during the roasting and may burst the bird.

Steaming Will Help.

One of the nicest ways to cook a turkey is to steam it for two hours before roasting. The steaming preserves the flavor and makes the flesh tender without danger of becoming too dry by long roasting. If a steamer is not at hand a large pail with a tight-fitting cover can be used. Tie the turkey to the cover, fastening it by the drumsticks. Put boiling water in the pail, as much as possible without touching the turkey. Steam two hours, keeping tightly covered to prevent steam from escaping. Use the water to baste the turkey during the roasting.

Rub turkey well with salt and cover breast with one-third cup butter and a cup of flour rubbed together. Place turkey on its side in the roasting pan and put in a hot oven. As soon as the turkey begins to brown reduce heat, fill the bottom of the pan with the liquor in which the turkey was steamed and roast two hours.

If the turkey is not steamed before roasting, cover the whole surface with flour and cover the breast with thin slices of bacon. A self-basting roaster should be used. Dredge the bottom of the roaster with flour. When the turkey begins to brown, reduce heat and add water. Roast about four hours. (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

A business session was held, and quite a bit of business was transacted, including the planning for a Christmas party, etc., to be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Embury. The day of the meeting happened to be the birthday anniversary of little Dale Skinner.

A large birthday cake was made for the occasion, and was decorated with seven candles.

The U and I club made Dale a present dear to every boy's heart, a football, for which he thanked them graciously.

Battle Over Town Rich in Iron, Coal

Ironwood, Mich., Nov. 15—(By the Associated Press)—On the arm of the attorney general of Michigan, the town of Hurley, Wisconsin, notorious in its past, has been ushered before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Born to notoriety in the days of the north country's "rum rebellion," Hurley, nevertheless, is desired by Michigan with Wisconsin just as firmly fighting the attempt to remove the town from its jurisdiction.

Hurley is on the small strip of land that Michigan claims as its own, despite the fact that the land, situated in Iron and Vilas counties, has been Wisconsin territory since 1836. Michigan's contention, as presented to the Supreme Court in a bill of complaint is that the boundary line between Michigan and Wisconsin was established originally as "through the middle of the main channel of the Mon treal river." Later it was discovered that the original surveys were incorrect and that the river had changed its course. Michigan asserts that the correct boundary is in the west branch of the river Wisconsin, the east branch.

The territorial acquisition that would result to Michigan, if the state's contention is recognized by the high court, would be small, including besides the land in the two Wisconsin counties, several islands in the Menominee river and Washington island in Green Bay. Valuable deposits of iron and coal, however, make the disputed terrain a tempting bon for the two commonwealths to wrangle over.

Michigan's bill of complaint to the Supreme Court charges that Wisconsin has refused to settle amicably the boundary dispute. Wisconsin is required to file an answer by January 1. The Michigan-Wisconsin dispute is of long standing. Michigan officials have explained the present court action is not as much directed to the extension of the territorial limits as it is to the settlement forever, one way or another, of the boundary argument.

TIMES AHEAD.

The business outlook is good, according to Jesse L. Livermore, known in Wall Street as the largest individual stock market operator.
Livermore says:

"During the past few years the people of our country have become accustomed to living on a higher standard than heretofore, and they are not going to be satisfied to live any other way in the future. The money they spend must necessarily mean a larger purchasing power, and that purchasing power is bound to keep business going at a good volume."

Livermore is right. Thrift—the savings instinct—is a fine thing. But spending makes prosperity. For instance, people have become accustomed to buying autos. This buying makes jobs for the army of people engaged in manufacturing the cars.

In turn, these car makers spend the money they receive, thus keeping busy the employes in other industries. The more we spend for legitimate purposes of production, the more jobs there are—and the more prosperity to be divided among all of us.

Common sense, of course, shows us that when a man makes more and spends more, he also should save more.

We can't have luxuries and necessities unless we create them. It's plain that we have to produce more if we want to have more.
Larger production is the price of higher standard of living. And the standard of living is flexible—it moves up or down, accordingly as we produce more commodities or not.

Humanity can't consume more than it produces. The ravens don't bring manna in our generation.

FASHIONS.

Style makers pass the word to their customers that plaids, stripes and checks will be
"the thing" in women's wear next spring.
There'll be a strong play on simplicity of silhouette. Garments will run severely to straight lines.

This sounds as if the ladies will look as if they'd been tailored by carpenters. The effect will be softened by an epidemic of Chinese colors—citron, lacquer red, porcelain blue, green and delicate corals.

The only thing that doesn't go out of fashion is father's pocketbook, which'll be as much in demand as ever before.

SUBWAYS.

New York City recently celebrated the nineteenth anniversary of the opening of its first subway. Few passengers at first. It took several months to induce the crowds to travel underground.

Now most of them take the subway as a matter of course, just as they never question the other details of the penitentiary existence known as city life. Like caged circus lions, they're well trained.

THE STEEL DIVIDEND.

The extra dividend of one-fourth percent on common stock voted by the directors of stockholders feel good. It may be assumed, therefore, that Judge Gary and his board of directors not only have made a little extra money during the last quarter but expect to continue making it. This augurs well for the steel industry in general, and consequently well for other industries. It is an intimation of a good business winter.

It is tacit admission, too, that the abolition of the twelve-hour day in this basic industry is working better than the steel men anticipated. They feared increased expense of production, inability to obtain the additional None of these results have appeared. The MEDICINE.

Fossils of huge prehistoric animals were discovered in China by American scientists.
They're finding it difficult to get permission to bring their finds to America. Chinese law forbids the export, it being the custom over there to grind up old bones and dragon teeth and sell them as medicine.

Well, these concoctions at least are practically harmless. And that's more than can be said for some of the white man's remedies which cure one part of the body by wrecking another.

CROOKS ANYWHERE.

Seven-tenths of the crooks brought into
New York City courts are natives of other cities, claims Judge Mancuso. He's defending his fair city against what he calls the charge of being "the worst city in the universe."

The other cities can come back at him with similar statistics. Their arrests include a lot of native New Yorkers.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 19—MR. BOB CAT PROMISES TO BE GOOD

The Twins saw him sneaking home in the moonlight.

Mister Bob Cat chased Paddyfoot as far away from home as Bo Peep's sheep. This is a strange tree, and that creek right underneath me, I never saw before. Ugh! It looks deep. I hate water! Wonder where those three are. I don't see them any more! This is the dead branch that Drummer Partridge was sitting on, but he's gone.

Suddenly there was a loud crack. The dead branch had dropped off with Mister Bob Cat on it and fallen splash into the water. "Oh! Oh! Oh!" he shrieked.

But his troubles were not over. Mister Otter reached up out of the water and ducked him. "Promise you'll let Paddyfoot Rabbit alone!" he said sternly. "He's a friend of mine."

"I p—p—promise!" gurgled Mister Bob Cat.

"And Hooty Owl!"

"Yes, yes, Him, too, if you'll only let me go!"

"And Drummer Partridge!"

"Yes, yes, sir!" nodded Mister Bob Cat weakly. "I—I'll promise anything if you'll only let me get out of this awful water."

The Twins saw him sneaking home in the moonlight. "Hee! Hee! Hee!" they heard three voices snigger.

"Say, Nancy?" said Nick. "When people have wits like that, they don't need much help from the Fairy Queen do they? The rabbit and the owl and the partridge planned the whole thing!"

PHILANTHROPY

BY BELTON BRALEY

I've often thought if I were rich I'd spend but little on myself. There are so many causes which a man could aid who had the pelf. I'd help the poor, I'd strive to live. To save men from the numbing clutch Of bitter want. I'd give and give To schools and colleges and such.

Of course, I'd need a country place. A city home, a southern cottage (I'd want some luxury and grace Out of my little mess of pottage). Clothes, servants, cars—enough of these To make a proper social standing. A yacht to sail upon the seas To any port I might be going.

I'd want some paintings, rugs and books (In vellum and de luxe editions). To stow away in various nooks. But save for some such small ambitions, Unselfishly I'd always plan To share my great prosperity With my less lucky fellow-man And give my all to charity! (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

Canada Expects Big Immigration in '23

Ottawa, Ont.—Immigration to Canada will show a marked increase in coming months and an open door policy will prevail for classes of settlers most likely to succeed, according to Hon. J. A. Robb, recently appointed Minister of Immigration and Colonization in the Dominion government.

"Canada requires increased population," said Hon. Mr. Robb, "but quality rather than quantity must count. The selection of the Dominion's new settlers must have due regard to physical, industrial and financial fitness. The greatest need is for those who are willing and able to settle on the land and assist in agricultural development."

"Conditions are much more safe and favorable for immigration at present than they have been since the close of the war. A man now has the opportunity of getting started on the land under normal conditions. Plans are now being laid in the expectation that the movement of settlers to the Dominion for next season will be the greatest in years."

The heaviest influx of settlers, Mr. Robb points out, is expected from the British Isles, but movement of home-seekers from certain areas of Europe and from the United States will be encouraged. These, it is believed, will be most largely from the agricultural class.

Mr. Robb's statement reflects the general opinion of immigration authorities. From immigration control by immigration agents it is believed that by the end of 1923 the Dominion will have received 125,000 new arrivals, a large proportion of whom have taken up farms in the prairie provinces where millions of acres are awaiting development.

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

MY DEAR JOHN:

I had decided never to write you again unless some great crisis came into either your or my life. Because I think such a crisis has come into yours now is the reason I am writing you this letter.

You know that I do not go to moving picture shows. I have never allowed myself to be seen in one of these dens of iniquity. In fact, it is the only thing over which dear Priscilla Bradford and I disagree.

She tells me that they are not as bad as I have been taught to believe and insists upon going once or twice a week to see them. She says they take her out of herself. She comes home and tells me the stories most graphically and usually, at the end, I can truthfully say that my opinion of them is not changed at all. They are always talking of things I would blush to mention before a man. Only that I know dear Priscilla goes along and always looks at them in a spirit of pious pity, I would feel that I really did not understand the mind of the modern young woman.

The last picture which she saw has further confirmed me in this decision although it seems to me that if you should go and see it you would be convinced of what a terrible thing you have done in adopting a child that you know nothing about and giving it your honorable name.

I believe this picture is called "Trampling His Heart," which in itself shows that those who make pictures believe in the sinful games that are played with cards. The story is all about a man who falls for an illegitimate child on his wife, and while I know that this would never be done by anyone of my family, yet I think it shows just what might be said by those who do not know you as I.

My dear John, it would break my heart to have anyone of my friends see that picture who know that you have adopted a child under almost the same circumstances.

Dear Priscilla Bradford drew my attention to these facts and I determined then and there to once again ask you to get rid of this child in some way.

I am feeling much better since dear Priscilla came to live with me and I think I would be perfectly happy if she did not have this strange craze of going to picture shows.

However, I suppose that this foolishness will wear out as she becomes older and more mature.

I presume I ask more of her because in other things she has always seemed so sensible. So much so that sometimes I have almost believed what some of the harum-scarum girls of the town say of her, that she is over thirty-five. For it is a story of mine that no girl really knows what is good for herself or any of her sex until she is thirty-five.

Dear Priscilla, however, tells me that she is only twenty-three and I must believe her for I know that everything she has told me about other things, specifically about Leslie, have been true.

By the way, she still insists that she saw Leslie in New York a short time ago.

Again let me ask you my son, to insist that this child shall be put in some asylum or orphanage. If you cannot persuade Leslie any other way, have her see this picture and show her how the confidence of her baby's adoption could bring disgrace and scandal to you. If she loves you she will certainly see the necessity of putting the child out of her life.

Affectionately,

YOUR MOTHER,

ALLIGATOR AS TROPHY.

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 14.—Major J. L. Griffith, athletic commissioner in the Big Ten Conference, spoke at a dinner given by the local Kiwanis club in honor of the Knox and Lombard football teams, last evening. Describing the strict sportsman's code he said all branches of business and industry would be benefitted if they could be managed under the same set of ethics as athletics.

As a trophy to go to the team winning the city championship each year, the Kiwanians presented a small man-eating alligator in a steel tank. It went to Lombard until the Knox-Lombard contest Friday when it will be given to the winner of the game.

$4.11 Profit Per $1
Record of This Cow

Paris, Ill.—A profit of $4.11 for every dollar spent on feed was returned by a grade Holstein cow observed this year by the Edgar county cow testing association according to the report of the association. The cow produced 13,170 pounds of milk, containing 565.1 pounds of butter fat or approximately 678 pounds of butter. She produced milk for twelve months and her total profit for the year was $233.17.

A grade Jersey cow included in the same tests, ran the winner a close second, producing 10,637 pounds of milk, 556.5 pounds of butter fat, 668.8 pounds of butter and a net profit for the ten months in which she was in the contest of $255.77.

The highest milk production record was made by a Holstein which produced 14,840 pounds of milk, containing 507.1 pound of butter fat in 235 days.

Fourteen other cows observed by the association produced between 400 and 500 pounds of butter fat. The average for all of the cows tested showed that each produced an average of 6223 pounds of milk containing 208.3 pounds of butter fat for an average profit per cow of $135.35.

Improvement Shown in New Reflex Sets

Investigation of the numerous circuits employing the reflex principle shows that many things look alike which aren't. Basically the circuits are the same as they were last year; the same as they were when Marlin LaTour was using them to pick up German buzzer communication on the western front. But they have developed.

This system, already under test by the fans of the country who more than a year was tried out with considerable skepticism. One who has heard an old-fashioned reflex interrupt a vocal duet with an electrical caterwauling of its own manufacture will never forget it. Neither will the man who has invited the neighbors to hear one perform and has had to apologize for its lack of talent. Such things were frequent in the old days when any roll of paper and tin foil with a label on it was suspected of being a radio, condenser and any transformer with binding posts marked G, P, B, and F was passed at face value.

Probably the most important step toward the success of the reflex as a household pet was the proper calibration of condensers. The manufacture of fixed capacitors that were truthfully labeled to begin with and could be relied upon not to change more than ten MPEs over an evening made possible the elimination of the shrieks. The evolution of transformers that would actually pass a reflexed current did away with six of the seven silent nights per week.

Builds Up Heavier Volume
These developments had a third effect; they increased the volume to a point equaling if not surpassing that attained by regeneration.

The reflex was the first stable circuit one may conveniently ignore the early super-regenerative in its classification—to make possible the use of the loud speaker on one tube. Regenerative effect in the radio frequency amplification plus rectification by means of a crystal and one stage of audio frequency amplification is the cause.

The circuit shown in the diagram is one of the most recent developments in this class. Although it has only two principal tubes, it is highly selective and certain novelties of construction give it an astonishing reach.

The transformer shown in the antenna-ground circuit is an Estro of the neodymium type, with a ratio of one to four. The aerial circuit is hooked into the primary. The secondary is tuned by means of a twenty-three plate condenser.

The transformer in the plate circuit of the tube was an Erla with a twenty-three-plate condenser across the secondary. It is possible also to use a one-to-two transformer of a type similar to that in the aerial circuit. The type of transformer is not particularly important, providing it responds to a certain amount of tuning. A split variometer with a condenser across the rotor will function fairly well at this point. The audio transformer should be of the high reflex type. Only two were tried out in the testing of this set, a Federal and an Erla six-to-one. Both worked.

Not Hooked Up Conductively
The circuit in which the secondary of the second R. F. transformer and the primary of the A. F. transformer are combined has one peculiarity worth noting. It is not conductively coupled to any of the other circuits in the set. The position of the phones is also worth noting.

For the sake of experiment they might be connected between the positive end of the B battery and the plus B post of the R. F. transformer. In that event the negative B and the negative A posts should be connected directly.

This set is worth a trial. As has been the case with most of the sample reflex circuits analyzed in these articles, it has not yet been put through its complete course of spurs. It may be that repeated trials will prove a varo-coupler with an untapped primary and a tuned secondary to be best for the aerial circuit.

The set as tried out during the last week is undoubtedly regenerative, although the feed back is probably accomplished through unsuspected capacities that really should be doing something else. In view of this some experimenters might get a bit of amusement out of placing the primary of the second transformer in inductive relation with the secondary of the first transformer of course, such an arrangement precludes the use of a fixed transformer of the commercial type and noting the results.

That leaves the matter with a sort of suspended interest until next week, when thrilling adventures in the reflexing of a tuned impedance will be described in all their harrowing detail.

RADIO EXPOSITION
Radio's greatest exaltation will be in full swing next Tuesday, Nov. 20, when the doors of the Coliseum will open on the second annual Chicago Radio Show.

All the leading manufacturers of the country have taken exhibit space in the show, and will display everything of interest to anyone connected in any way with the world's newest science, either as manufacturer, dealer or radio fan. Profiting by the experience of the past two years, exhibitors have arranged their displays for the coming exposition so that they will be educational in their nature, and a greater popular understanding of radio's many mysteries is certain to result.

Many new ideas will be shown for the first time at the Chicago show, ideas developed by the higher type of engineers that have been attracted to the science since it has been put on a more stable basis. Dr. Lee DeForest and many other notables in the radio world will attend the exposition.

One leading feature of the show will be an exhibition of amateur sets in a contest for which many valuable prizes have been offered. Already there are more sets entered in this contest alone than have ever been shown in any previous radio congress and some of them are considered important contributions to the advancement of radio.

The exposition will be open from 2 to 11 daily.

WANT SHORTER SESSIONS. Chicago, Nov. 14.—Shorter sessions of the General Assembly of Illinois are favored by a large majority of the members of the legislature, according to letters written by the law makers in answer to a questionnaire from the Illinois Journal of Commerce, official publication of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce.

Biennial sessions have averaged more than 175 days during the last 15 years, according to records furnished the Journal of Commerce. The 202 officers and employees of the legislature during the session of 1921 were paid salaries for from 149 to 177 days, only 25 in both houses being paid for less than 100 days, according to the records.

The letters to the Journal of Commerce all state that, in the opinion of the writers, the session could be confined to 100 days or less.

PRIME MINISTER FACES CRITICAL FIGHT AT POLLS

Determined Opposition to Premier Baldwin Now Evident.

London, Nov. 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Probably the first question a foreigner would ask after reading today's editorial comment on the impending dissolution of parliament would be: "Why is this country having an election? Clearly, nobody wants it."

This inclination to take a poll of the electorate on the protection question is manifested by all parties. Some comments are vicious and Premier Baldwin is charged with having variously unexampled levity, shabby maneuvering and with having lapsed from the traditional honor and decency of British public life.

The liberals, laborites and socialists are very angry. Today's lineup of the press for and against the premier probably is not final but thus far his newspaper supporters are in the minority.

Knowledge in the financial district of London that a general election was imminent caused a loss of $52,000,000 in value of stocks on the London exchange in two days.

A feature of the election will be the number of women candidates, it being estimated that between 30 and 40 will seek admission to the commons.

Lady Astor will again appeal to her Plymouth electorate and it is understood Mrs. Wintingham will ask her Louth constituency to return her.

The fate of Lady Warwick in the bye election she has been contesting has been postponed until the general election.

140 IN NIGHT SCHOOL.
Quincy—Night school in Quincy has become so popular that all available space in the high school and one of the grade schools is heavily taxed to take care of the 140 students now enrolled. Registration in the more popular subjects is such that teachers are in some cases compelled to work double periods and the demand for subjects not on the curriculum has been great enough to warrant additional to the regular list of studies.

Principal J. F. Welleneyer says attendance is more regular than usual. Ask your druggist for a box of Head—conceded to be the best foot powder made. Sold by druggists everywhere.

ELIMINATION OF BILLBOARDS ON HIGHWAYS ASKED

Gov. Small Asks Co-operation of Officers Throughout Ill.

By Associated Press Licensed Wire
Springfield, Ill., November 14.—Cooperation of every municipality in the state in eliminating advertising signs on the right-of-way of state highways has been asked by Governor Small.

"Eliminations of unsightly signboards, which give no information to any of the thoroughfares in other states, is gradually being accomplished, and if each village, town and city in Illinois will keep the right of way state roads through corporate limits free from signs other than those erected by the state, our efforts will be realized more expediently," Governor Small said.

"Illinois has been the pioneer among the states in this movement. No signs advertising matter have been permitted on state highways during this administration. Illinois has seen the logic of preserving the right of way in this respect with the result that there have hundreds of miles of drives fringed with grass, trimmed to a lawn-like nicety, and unmarred by unsightly billboards which are so often seen in neighboring commonwealths."

Colonel C. R. Miller, director of the department of Public Works and Buildings, in pointing out the advantages of the state's policy, said that it is difficult to catch the meaning of a danger sign at a railroad crossing, side road, or crossroad when official signs are confused with commercial posters.

"In addition to the danger and inconvenience," the colonel said, "caused by promiscuous sign-of-way advertising, it detracts from, if it does not destroy, the natural beauty of the country. When highways are lined with posters the clean cut appearance of the drives and pleasures of travel are deprived from the tourist."

"Connecticut has followed Illinois' clean highway policy and has passed a law prohibiting signs on the right-of-way," Colonel Miller said. "Minnesota has also followed suit and a law in that state, effective Dec. 1, 1923, provides for the elimination of advertising signs already standing as well as prohibiting the construction of new ones."

"This one rule," Colonel Miller continued, "has worked wonders in adding beauty to our state drives. The result is noticeable even to the busiest of men and has been commented upon by tourists passing through the state this summer. Our goal seems to be worth striving for and I believe that everyone will cooperate with the governor's program of beautification of state highways."

GRIDIRON FACTS

By Billy Evans.

Urbana, Ill.,—Mississippi A. and M. college, which plays the first inter-sectional game in the Illinois stadium, is coached by Earl Abell, former Colgate star, who has introduced many new ideas in training a football team.

One of these was the attendance of the entire southern squad, 75 in all, at Sunday morning services in one of the Starkville churches where the pastor delivered an appropriate sermon. This was in line with Coach Abell's belief that to be a successful athlete one must lead a moral and temperate life.

The lads from Dixie are all keyed up because of their impending invasion of the north, reports Ernest Bearg, assistant coach, who journeyed to Starkville last Saturday to inspect them in action. They will run out on the stadium gridiron pointed for the battle, Illinois, looking to the final conference clash against Ohio next week, will not be on edge and this fact may make the game a lot closer than some people expect.

Mississippi has gained fame for its fighting qualities and on a number of occasions has upset the dope in the south. Texas A. and M., one of the strongest teams in the entire southland, won the southwestern championship in 1916 but the Mississippians licked them.

Capt. Gene Barnett, fullback, and Young, quarterback, are both good passers and the invaders expect to stage an aerial attack as they believe Stephens, halfback, does a good job as their kicker. Coach Abell, reports from Starkville indicate, after the victory over Union college last week, began to drill his squad in a set of new plays for the Illinois encounter.

The Illinois expect the largest turnout of the season for a non-conference game. Given a bright day it is predicted that hundreds of cars from Illinois and Indiana will point their noses toward the stadium. There are no reserved seats and the admission has been cut to $1.50.

READY FOR SATURDAY

By Associated Press Licensed Wire

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Old scores as well as title chances are to be settled on Western Conference gridirons Saturday.

Wisconsin has its last year's defeat and past similar experiences to re-grieve in its game with Michigan; Chicago settles its differences with Ohio and Minnesota will meet its ancient foe, Iowa. Northwestern hopes to use Purdue as a stepping stone out of the Big Ten cellar.

The Wisconsin eleven has spent the week priming a previously ineffective offense. Reports from Ann Arbor tell of Michigan's strength despite the loss of Utegg.

The Buckeyes report that Klee, their fast halfback, again will be in the game. Coach Stagg of Chicago is not under-rating the Ohio eleven despite its early reverses.

Minnesota is determined to break the string of consecutive Iowa victories.

KNOW Thy Self

A NEW HEALTH CURE

A new health cure is on the market. There are about thirteen millions of this cure in the United States. A leading automobile official is authority for the statement, that after a careful investigation, it has been found that the automobile is the cause for an increase on life.

In 1903, according to this official, the average life span in the United States was only 37.64 years. It has jumped to 48.6 years. "In this connection it is interesting to note that in 1903 there were only 20,850 automobiles in the United States. In 1913 when motor cars had increased to 161,500, the life span of the average person had advanced to 41.01 years. In the last ten years the motor car population has jumped to 13,002,427 and the national life expectancy has risen 7.65 years." This would seem to indicate that the automobile is

My Rosy Skin

How I clean it—how I preserve it

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My skin is the marvel of millions. Even softer and more rosy than 40 years ago. Yet mine is a grandmother's age.

Mine has been no easy life. I have lived it in the limelight. I served France five years in the rigors of the war. Yet countless young girls envy my complexion. I can easily pass for 19.

France gave me the methods I employ. Now, in gratitude, I am supplying them to others. They multiplied my beauty, gave me perennial youth. Now I hope to bring to millions the benefits I got.

How I Keep Clean
The first step to beauty is a clean skin—a skin that is clean to the depths. Lucie Lantelme, a famous Parisian beauty, taught me how to get it.

The method is a liquid cleanser. I call it my Facial Youth. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. So it cannot grow hair on the face. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. But it penetrates every pore. When I wipe it off, all the dirt and grime, all that clogs the skin comes with it.

You may think you clean your skin without it, but you haven't. Apply Facial Youth to what you call a clean skin and see the extra dirt you get.

That is what causes blackheads and blemishes.

I cover my body with Facial Youth before bathing. Thus I remove three times the refuse I remove without it.

Nothing to Compare
My Facial Youth is the greatest cleansing formula science has created. The latest beauty experts now envy my complexion. I can easily pass for 19.

I bring it to you at a modest price, and I urge you to employ it. You will find nothing to approach it. A fine complexion is impossible unless the skin is clean.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth is now supplied by all druggists and toilet counters at 75 cents per bottle. Also my Youth Cream—my Youth Cold Cream. Also my White Youth Clay—the last word in facial clay. Also my Hair Youth, which brought me luxuriant hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

Take this first step to beauty now. Clean the skin with my Facial Youth. The immediate results will amaze you. Then, if you wish my other aids, they are at your call. Edna Wallace Hopper. Business address, Waukegan, Wis.

Note: Mrs. Hopper is now appearing twice daily in the Pantages Theaters of the Pacific coast and western states.

Illinois, Indiana, Iowa to Contest in Annual Corn Exhibit

Chicago—More than 5,000 exhibits of the best corn, grains, small seeds and hay from the various states and Canada will be displayed at the fifth International Grain and Hay Show to be held here December 1 to 8, in connection with the International Live Stock Exposition, according to Superintendent G. I. Christie, who has been in charge of this show since its inauguration in 1919.

The Chicago Board of Trade premium list of 12,000 provides this year for more than 1,250 premiums and every interested farmer has an opportunity to enter exhibits. Many improvements over former shows have been made, Mr. Christie said, classes and premiums of special interest to southern states having been provided and the boundaries of arbitrary regions changed so as to encourage and secure large numbers of exhibits on a fair competitive basis.

The Show is managed by the representatives of the various states and Canada and is conducted solely in the interest of better crops, better markets and a better agriculture, according to Mr. Christie. Because of climatic and soil differences which are reflected in the grain and forage crops the continent has been divided by the agronomists of the agricultural colleges into regions of approximately similar crops to conserve the interests of the exhibitors. The reasonable conditions throughout the country have been favorable and it is anticipated that the coming show will surpass the four previous sessions not only in the number of entries, but also in the quality of crops on display.

Superintendent Christie is director of the Indiana Agricultural Experiment Station and also Director of Agricultural Extension in that state and is one of the foremost figures in the Agricultural world today.

"The three-cornered contest between Iowa, Illinois and Indiana for grand champion corn sweepstakes, the highest honor, will be more lively this year than ever before," he asserts. "Farmers have searched their bumper crops for winning ears. Peter J. Lux won for Indiana last year with ten ears of Johnson County White Dent corn, and now holds the Board of Trade corn trophy. Fourteen-year-old Glenn Phares, also of Indiana, holds the junior corn trophy."

My Rosy Skin

How I clean it—how I preserve it

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My skin is the marvel of millions. Even softer and more rosy than 40 years ago. Yet mine is a grandmother's age.

Mine has been no easy life. I have lived it in the limelight. I served France five years in the rigors of the war. Yet countless young girls envy my complexion. I can easily pass for 19.

France gave me the methods I employ. Now, in gratitude, I am supplying them to others. They multiplied my beauty, gave me perennial youth. Now I hope to bring to millions the benefits I got.

How I Keep Clean
The first step to beauty is a clean skin—a skin that is clean to the depths. Lucie Lantelme, a famous Parisian beauty, taught me how to get it.

The method is a liquid cleanser. I call it my Facial Youth. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. So it cannot grow hair on the face. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. But it penetrates every pore. When I wipe it off, all the dirt and grime, all that clogs the skin comes with it.

You may think you clean your skin without it, but you haven't. Apply Facial Youth to what you call a clean skin and see the extra dirt you get.

That is what causes blackheads and blemishes.

I cover my body with Facial Youth before bathing. Thus I remove three times the refuse I remove without it.

Nothing to Compare
My Facial Youth is the greatest cleansing formula science has created. The latest beauty experts now envy my complexion. I can easily pass for 19.

I bring it to you at a modest price, and I urge you to employ it. You will find nothing to approach it. A fine complexion is impossible unless the skin is clean.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth is now supplied by all druggists and toilet counters at 75 cents per bottle. Also my Youth Cream—my Youth Cold Cream. Also my White Youth Clay—the last word in facial clay. Also my Hair Youth, which brought me luxuriant hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

Take this first step to beauty now. Clean the skin with my Facial Youth. The immediate results will amaze you. Then, if you wish my other aids, they are at your call. Edna Wallace Hopper. Business address, Waukegan, Wis.

WHY HERSHEY GAVE HIS $60,000,000 TO ASSIST ORPHANS

Chocolate King Was a "Poor Boy" Himself His Explanation.

BY BOB DORMAN
NEA Service Staff Writer
Hershey, Pa.—"I was a poor boy myself, once."

Seven short simple words, but they tell the story of millions given away as other men give dimes.

For Milton Snavely Hershey has turned over $60,000,000, practically the whole of a fortune built up by a lifetime of labor, to found a school for orphan boys.

I found Hershey in his home located in this little village hidden away in the hills of central Pennsylvania, the village that he has built from the bare fields of a farming community, a village that has no town form of government and where Mr. Hershey's word is law.

His workers' homes are built on land donated by Hershey and the houses are erected by payments from their salaries. The streets are paved and clean, a village that might well deserve the name of "Spotless Town."

"Why have you given away such a fortune?" I asked him.

His answer was the seven words that head this story.

Continuing, he said, "My country has been good to me. I feel that what I have is but a trust."

"And I know the better way to repay that trust, than to give to American young men, healthy and strong, educated in the fundamentals, and who look upon work as an honor, and not something to be avoided."

"It is time that more attention was paid to humanity, and less to machinery, to polishing up men and not brass."

Work Brings Happiness

"No man can find real happiness except in work; no nation can endure unless her people are honest workers."

He took me to the school that he has founded, where 120 orphan boys, ranging in age from 4 to 18, are being reared to become citizens.

The school is located on a farm about a mile from Hershey. Its main building is the farmhouse where Hershey was born.

"My father owned this farm," Mr. Hershey said, "and my grandfather the next one, and my great-grandfather the one beyond that. But they were lost, and I had to buy them back."

"We went through the dormitory, a large brick building, occupied by the older boys. The ground floor holds the school rooms, the basement the gymnasium, the upper floors being the sleeping quarters."

"Nice enough room, isn't it?" said Mr. Hershey, as he showed one of the rooms, with its two snow-white beds, "but just a little warm."

I was a little and slept in that attic over there, and to break the ice in the pitcher in order to wash in the morning."

"The barn used to be drive where this building is now. I'd drive the cows in, morning and night, dressed in an old pair of overalls, and with my bare feet trailing to the rear of the house."

"I had to walk a mile and a half to school in the winter. I worked on the farm in the summer. But I was healthy. I had plenty to eat. Look at these boys here. Do they look like the youngsters you see in the city?"

All Dressed Differently

The boys had surrounded Mr. Hershey. They greeted him as one of themselves. The youngsters climbed all over him. Every boy was dressed differently. All wore different sameness at the Hershey school.

"I am not trying to make supermen out of these boys. Just to make good Americans of them. To give them the chance that fate has denied them."

"They stay here until they are 18. Then they can go to work in the candy factory, or we will help them to get a job where they want it."

"If a boy shows any exceptional talent that would need a college education to develop it, we will aid him in that. But a college education is not needed in every walk of life."

Hershey is 66 years old, descended from a Swiss family that settled in Lancaster County, Pa., 250 years ago. At 17, filled with ambition to make money, he left the farm and became a printer's devil in Gap, Pa. He worked for six months without salary, just for his keep.

The life did not appeal. With the crude facilities of the printing press in the early seventies, the paper "looked as if microbes had crawled over it," according to Hershey.

He then went to Lancaster, Pa., where he spent three years in learning candy making.

In 1876, with the little money he had managed to save, he went to Philadelphia where he went into business for himself. The collision of his delivery wagon with a street car killed his horse—and his failing business.

For two years he worked in the west at his trade. Returning east, he once more tried his luck at business, by opening up a store in New York in 1884, where once more he failed.

Eventually he went to Lancaster, Pa., all his youthful ambition was making money. He once more opened a small candy factory, hoping to make enough to live on comfortably. There success came to him.

But the old business drew him. He bought back the acres that had slipped away. He began the erection of his new factory. People called him "crazy" for erecting a factory in the open fields where no buildings were in sight, except a little stone schoolhouse.

But Hershey went ahead. He built 32 miles of trolley lines to transport his workers. He built a trust company, an electric light and water plant, an amusement park that draws Galli-Curci, Geraldine Farrar, Sousa and others.

Is a Success

His business grew by leaps and bounds. A department store that New York might envy, brought a selection and prices that no large city can beat. His workers have never struck. Seventy-five per cent of them own their own homes. Their salaries equal the current market rate, but 25 per cent of the profits of the business is paid to them as extra compensation after deduction for return on the capital.

Invested, the other 75 per cent going to the Orphans' School.

This bonus in the first three months of the year amounted to 26 per cent of their salary, in the second three months to 20 per cent, and in the last three months to 24 per cent.

Hershey visited other schools and orphanages before he started his school. His applicants must be physically and mentally fit, white and American.

"I hope," says Mr. Hershey, "that within the next ten years we can have 1000 boys. I am also going to start a similar school in Cuba where we have 4000 employees. I want the boys to grow up in home-like surroundings—and some day I hope that some of them will be running the business."

Apostles' Creed is Held to Be Summary of Christians' Belief

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—A "re-affirmation of faith" in the "virgin birth of Christ and the Apostles' Creed" has been adopted by the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States.

The pronouncement, made public after its unanticipated adoption last night at a special meeting of the House of Bishops, points out a distinction between profession of belief in entire surrender to the true God and belief in certain facts about the operation of the Trinity.

The House of Bishops emphatically goes on record in a re-affirmation of belief in every assertion of the Apostles' Creed, making such belief and teaching obligatory to the Christian, priest or bishop, of the church.

The pronouncement was expected by those close to house members to terminate the controversial situation in which the Rev. Henry Stiekeny, Grant of New York occupied the central position.

"Objections to the doctrine of the virgin birth, or to the bodily resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ are not only contrary to the Christian tradition, but have been abundantly dealt with by the best scholarship of the day," one paragraph in the expression of belief read.

"Some test of earnest and sincere purpose of discipleship for belief and for life, is reasonably required for admission to the Christian society," another article declared. "Accordingly, profession of the Apostles' Creed as a summary of Christian belief, stands and has stood from early days along with renunciation of evil and the commandments as a condition of baptism."

EGG BOYCOTTS URGED TO BEAT THE PROFITEERS

"Dollar Eggs" Plan of Speculator Chicago Expert Says.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Nov. 14.—An egg boycott by housekeepers is urged by Joseph Ruskiewicz, secretary of the city council's high cost committee, who charges Chicago dealers are attempting to corner the egg market and create an artificial shortage that will boost prices to $1 a dozen.

Eggs are now selling at 80 cents here although storage houses are buying with $3,000,000 dozens, he said.

Seven dealers, alleged to have combined, expect to make $3,000,000 before Christmas with "dollar eggs" according to Ray Lane, former attorney for the committee.

"The eggs now on sale were placed in storage last spring at from 20 to 25 cents a dozen," Mr. Ruskiewicz said. "Speculators are buying up shipments as fast as they arrive and placing them in storage to create a shortage."

Dealers are charged with "moon-shining" eggs, selling as "strictly fresh" eggs that have been in storage since spring.

The only weapon the food board fears is the housewives' boycott, according to Ruskiewicz.

Extended to Spuds

The campaign committee against high cost of eggs has been extended to potatoes, Joseph Ruskiewicz, secretary, has announced.

While Chicagoans are paying upwards of $1.50 a bushel for potatoes, hundreds of thousands of bushels are stored in Michigan awaiting purchase at 30 cents, according to the committee, which plans to ask aid of boat lines in transporting potatoes to Chicago to be sold at less than $1.00.

Egg dealers denied charges that an attempt was being made to boost egg prices to $1.00 a dozen.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

CHIEF EVENTS OF THE WEEK BRIEFLY TOLD

German Revolt—World Conference—Veterans

BY CHARLES P. STEWART.
NEA Service Writer.
The Paris government pretended to be willing to talk matters over, but the only terms it would do so on were such that it was clear no agreement could be arrived at. In fact, few people believe France ever intended to permit any development which would keep her from smashing Germany to bits.

So now the United States has announced it would be a waste of time to hold the kind of meeting Premier Poincare insists on limiting this one to; therefore, count America out.

Want Their Money.
It's expected the next thing will be for the United States and England to tell France, since she won't do anything else, that they wish she'd pay the war debts she owes them. Of course, she can't, and they know it. It's a scheme (if that's what they do) to "bring pressure" on the French. How it will work nobody can say.

Probably Ends It.
General Von Ludendorff undoubtedly was real organizer of the monarchists. Adolph Hitler, a would-be Mussolini, was his mouthpiece.

Hitler proclaimed a new regime in Germany. As its "regent," or head, he named Dr. Von Kahr, who was acting as dictator of the German state of Bavaria. He nominated himself (Hitler) as "chancellor." Ludendorff was to be military commander. Presumably the idea was to make Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria emperor of Germany.

Rupprecht repudiated the whole thing. Kahr not only repudiated it but told loyal troops to put the uprising down. Hitler and Ludendorff had to surrender. Hitler's said to have escaped later, but Ludendorff remained a prisoner.

That probably ends it all, for the present.

The ex-crown prince has returned from Holland to Germany, which may not mean something. He's as much a citizen of the country as any other German, so why shouldn't he live there?

Count America Out.
France has "spiked" the attempt England made to get the world's big powers into a discussion of the French claims against Germany. A discussion it was hoped would lead toward an end of Europe's troubles.

Waste and Dishonesty.
Investigation, by a senatorial committee, into Colonel Forbes' management of the Veterans' Bureau, goes on.

As typical of the testimony, one witness told of the purchase for the bureau of sheets costing $1.03 each, which, as they were received at one door of a bureau warehouse, were passed out through another door to purchasers who had bought them at 16 cents each.

General O'Ryan, attorney for the investigators, has announced that, though the committee is prosecuting nobody yet, "I think we have developed a picture of extraordinary waste and dishonesty."

America's Favorite Songs

GOOD-NIGHT, LADIES

With the exception of the singing of spirituals in the south, there has been no more true folk singing in America than that of undergraduates in our colleges.

Even in the generation of our fathers, when many men regarded music as not sufficiently masculine for their taste, the collegians enjoyed their close harmony in good times and bad. This was the age of "Who Cocks the Air," "A Tavern in the Town" and other rousing ditties.

MOTHER MACHREE
Like many a now famous ballad, "Mother Machree" owes its great popularity largely to John McCormack. It has won such a place in the hearts of millions.

There's a spot in me heart
Which no colleen may own,
There's a depth in me soul
Never sounded or known;
There's a place in my memory,
My life, that you fill,
No other can take it,
No one ever will.

Sure, I love the dear silver
That shines in your hair,
And the brow that's all furrowed
And wrinkled with care,
I kiss the dear fingers,
Oh, God bless you and keep you,
Mother Machree!

Ev'ry sorrow or care
In the dear days gone by,
Was made bright by the light
Of the smile in your eye,
Like a candle that's set
In a window at night,
Your fond love has cheered me,
And guided me right.

GOVT. EXPORT COMMISSION TO HELP FARMERS
Sec. Wallace Says Consideration is Being Given Plan.

Chicago, Nov. 14—(By the Associated Press)—An agricultural export commission designed to restore farm purchasing power by withdrawing exportable surpluses from the domestic markets, "is receiving the very careful consideration of the Department of Agriculture," Secretary Wallace said today in an address before the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Such a commission, he advocates, would relieve the wheat farmer and in conjunction with the tariff would bring about a rise in price in the domestic market. He made it clear, however, that price fixing must be avoided and warned that government interference with supply and demand would hamper readjustment.

"Such a commission as I suggest," he said, "and which we are now outlining, will look after the wheat surplus from behind a tariff wall so that prices can rise in the domestic market to the point where a bushel of wheat will buy as much for the farmer as it did before the war."

He suggested that any effort to fix wheat prices by governmental agencies would only add to the producers' difficulties.

The trials of the wheat farmer were due to the "sudden evaporation" of the foreign market following the war, and the only real solution, he asserted, lies in the readjustment of production to the curtailed demand for American wheat.

He denied that the farmers are tending toward radicalism. The farmers, he said, "as ever, still are the most conservative element among us. Even if farming communities have elected radicals to inspect officials, the results I think, will be only temporary."

The farmer, he added, has given unmistakable approval to the prohibition laws.

He commended President Coolidge.

Lee Co. Farm Bureau Notes

TO ADDRESS MEETING. Lee County farmers may not have been aware of the part that the Lee County Farm Bureau with the assistance of Mr. J. C. Watson of the Illinois Agricultural Association took in investigating Lee County tax figures. The summary showed that Lee County farm lands were taxed on a par with city and village real estate, or in other words farm values were not taxed a higher figure. This was not true in many counties where it was found that farm lands were taxed at a higher rate than city property according to actual cash value.

The taxation work accomplished by the Illinois Agricultural Association is the best project carried on by a state farm bureau that I know of," stated John W. Coverdale, Secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation in commenting upon the selection of Mr. Watson to tell of his tax work at the annual meeting of the Federation in Chicago, December 10-14.

Many Lee County farmers are familiar with the tax investigation work carried on by the I. A. A. in Illinois counties under the direction of Mr. Watson.

In 1921 and 1922, the I. A. A. investigated state taxes and showed that farm lands in many counties were bearing more than their just share of taxes. The facts were presented before the Illinois Tax Commission both years and resulted in reductions in state farm taxes of over a million dollars.

This year Mr. Watson has been directing an investigation into county tax conditions in 56 counties in Illinois. He has made a comparison between the assessed valuations and sales values of city and farm property and found that wide inequalities existed in many counties, causing farmers to bear an unjust share of county taxes.

The facts, presented in hearings before Boards of Review, were welcomed in many of the counties and inequalities were corrected. The work that the I. A. A. has undertaken is the first that farmers have done to find out if they are being equitably taxed in Illinois.

Five voting directors will represent Illinois at the fourth annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation at Chicago, December 10-14, according to information received by the Lee County Farm Bureau.

Those who have been elected by the Illinois Agricultural Association Executive Committee are: S. H. Thompson, Quincy, president of the I. A. A.; Henry McGough, Maple Park; C. R. Finley, Hoopston; Curt Anderson, Xenia, and D. J. Holtermann, Sadorus.

Many Lee County farmers met Mr. Thompson during the membership campaign three years ago.

Earl C. Smith, Detroit, was elected first alternate, and Frank D. Barton, Cornell, second alternate. Each state farm bureau is entitled to one voting director and one additional director of each 29,000 members in the A. F. B. F.

The following Illinois farmers were chosen as members of the house of delegates at the national farm bureau meeting: G. F. Tullock, Rockford; C. E. Bamforth, Polo; W. H. Moody, Port Byron; H. E. Goebel, Hoopston; D. G. Rader, Mendota; E. L. Corbin, Carlinville; Stanley Castle, Alton; Carlton Trimble, Trimble; and Vernon Leasley, Sparta.

Mr. Bamforth is director of the 13th Congressional District as a member of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

They will have all the privileges of directors at the annual meeting except the right to vote. Each state is entitled to one delegate for each 10,000 paid up members.

MAY SEND TEAM TO ENGLAND. Farm Adviser L. S. Griffith has received word that steps are being taken toward sending the Whiteside County Boys' Dairy Judging team, champions of the United States at the recent National Dairy Show to compete for world honors at the Royal Stock Show in England.

At a meeting in Chicago, Geo. A. Fox, secretary of the Illinois Agricultural Association was appointed chairman of a committee to finance the trip. L. P. McMillan, Rockford banker, was appointed treasurer of the committee.

PLANS FOR I. A. A. MEETING. The Illinois Agricultural Association will hold its annual meeting at Galesburg, January 16 and 17, 1924, according to a message received by Farm Adviser Griffith.

The Lee County Farm Bureau will be represented by two delegates. On January 15, the day previous to the opening of the annual meeting, a state-wide marketing conference will be called for boards of directors and managers of cooperative marketing associations, presidents of county farm bureaus and others interested.

At its meeting on November 9, the I. A. A. Executive Committee selected a committee to prepare the association budget for next year. The committee is composed of President S. H. Thompson, Quincy; Secretary Geo. A. Fox, Sycamore; Chas. Finley, Hoopston; Henry McGough, Maple Park; and A. O. Eckert, Belleville. The report of this committee will be in the form of a recommendation to the new Executive Committee to be selected at the annual meeting.
